

HANDCRAFTED FOR YOU!

AL-MAUN BY IMTIAAZ ALI

'I have been working with stone carving for more than two decades', - Imtiaaz Ali, an artisan from Agra. He mastered the craft at an early age and after completing his graduation he involved himself full-time in the family business.

They work with various kinds of locally available stones. The stones are first cut out in blocks followed by chiselling them. They are then ground to achieve the right form and are marked with a basic hexagonal grid to begin the latticework.

AQUA WEAVES

A CSR initiative of NEDFi to promote the use of water hyacinth, in the rural areas of North-East, as a raw material for making beautiful handicraft products. The initiative has helped over 600 artisans who can work both out of the CFC as well as their own units.

The infusion of modern-day technology in the traditional process of working has ensured precision and consistency in the quality of the end product. NEDFi at their common facility centre in Khetri, Assam has done exhaustive research to understand the various ways of utilising water hyacinth.

THEN & NOW

The journey began in the year 2009 by Ms. Uma Tiwari with the idea to contemporize product and use these painting styles in a way that product becomes useful as well as beautiful.

Then & Now is a take on Gond, Patachitra, and Madhubani to tell the story of the craft as it was 'Then' and its interpretation 'Now'.

Uma's work has been well appreciated at both National and International platforms such as New York Fashion Week, Craft Council Andhra Pradesh, etc.
